imagine

The 2002-2003 school year marked the most prolific change in Kiski High's 41 year history - many of her walls fell, many of her gardens surrendered, and many of her walkways became stepless. While she knew that the transformation would benefit all of her children to come, she couldn't help remembering all of those who had once walked her corridors.

She recalled each and every person who graced her campus - names like John Varine, Heidi Lange, Sandra Bowman, Mike Lamendola, Mildred Lawhorn, and Rita Staney. In her 41-year history, she welcomed nearly 15,000 young minds and she vividly remembered each.

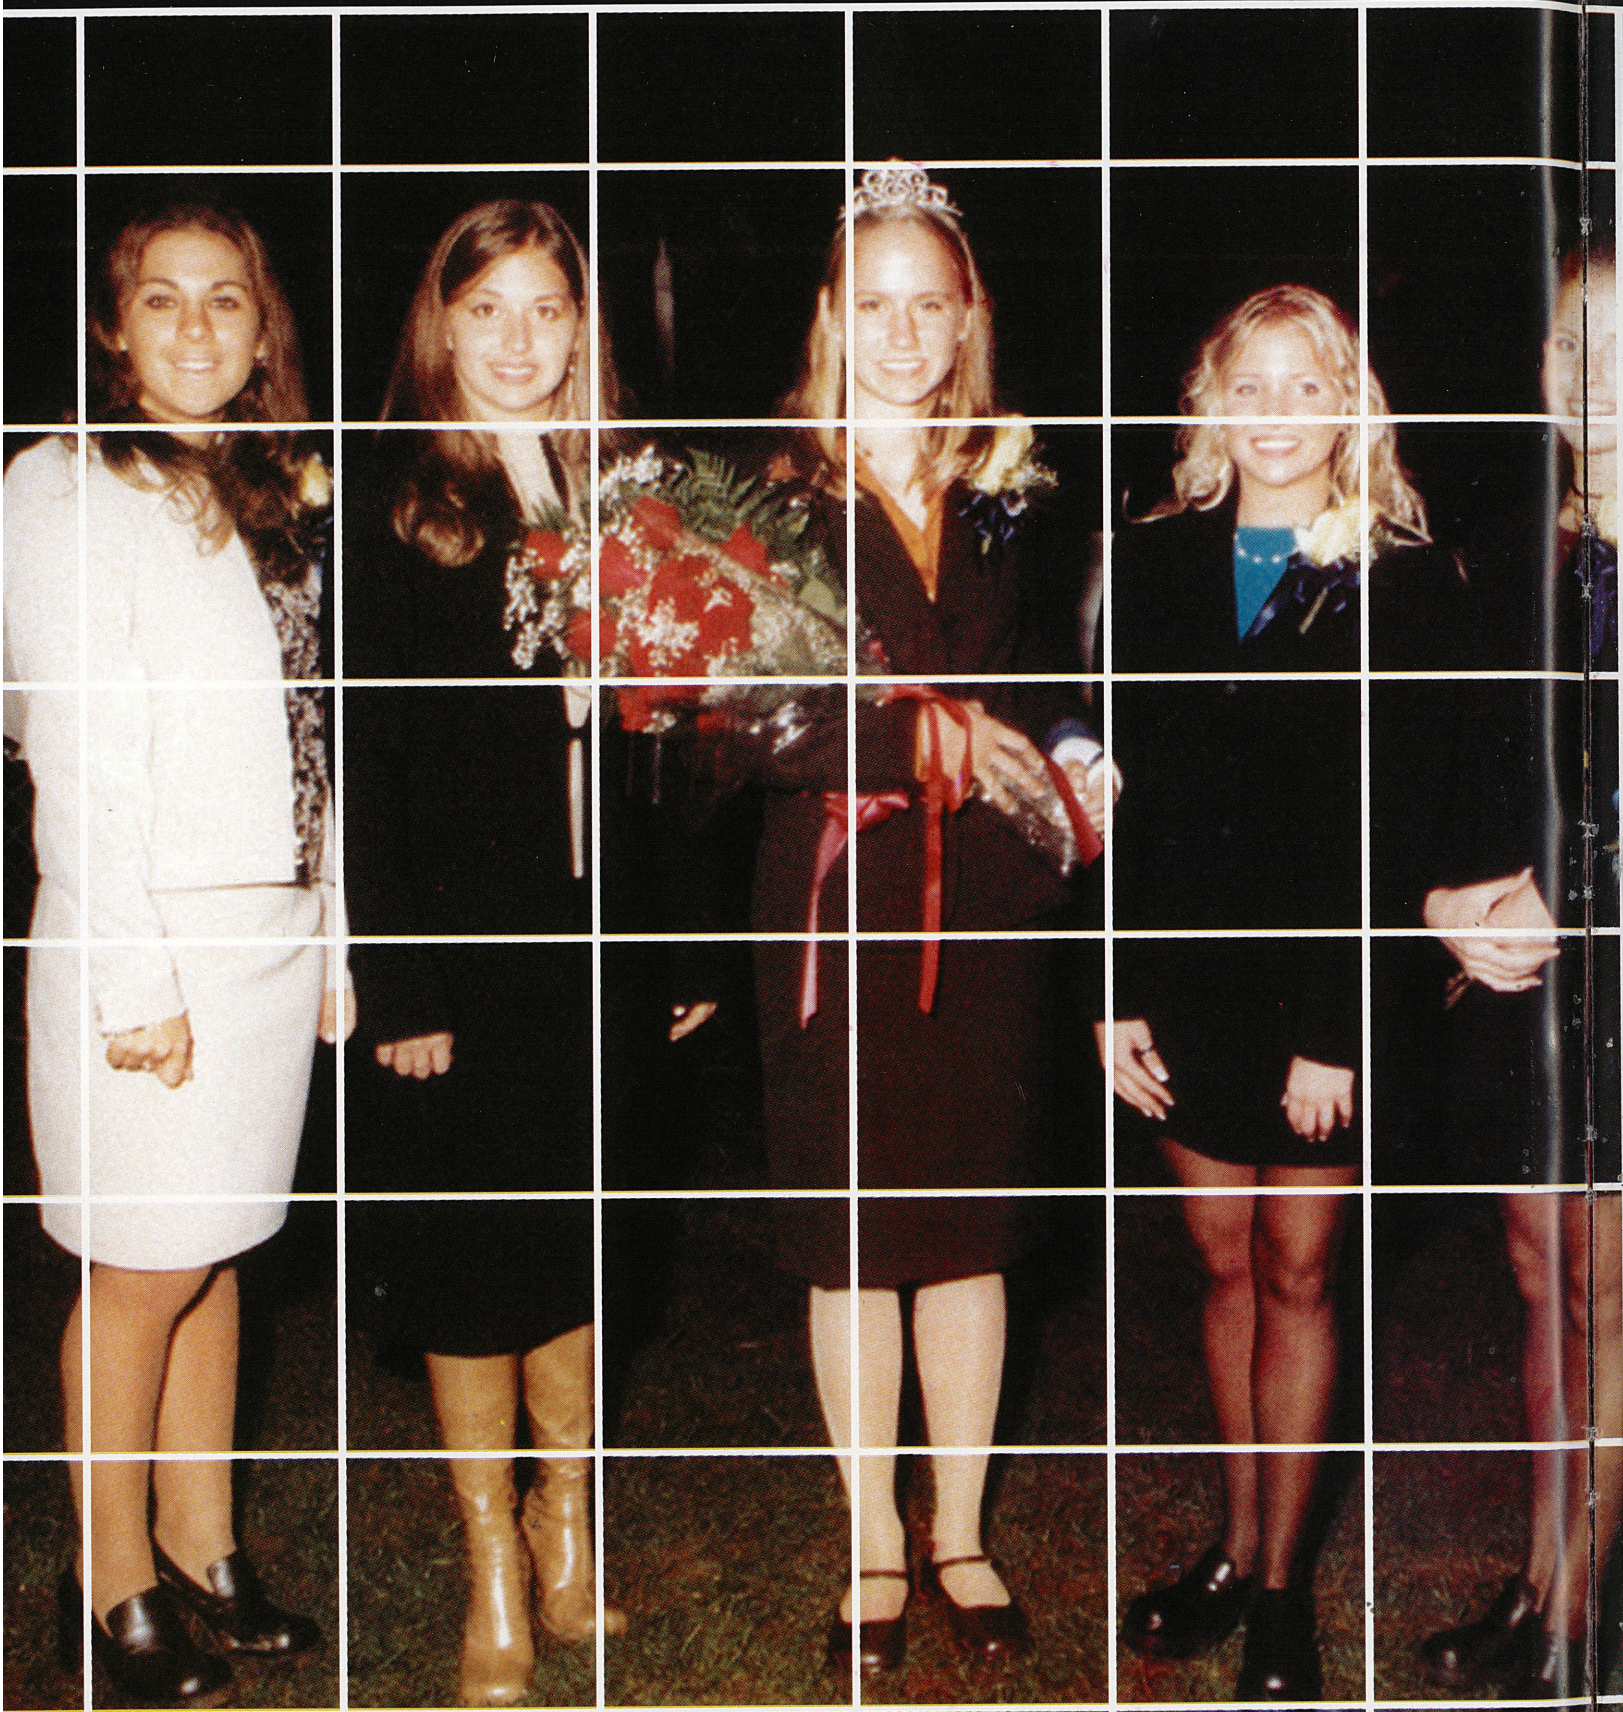

The 2002-2003 school year left Kiski High standing at the foothills of greatness. She began to change in appearance, but not in soul. She realized that her true beauty rested in her congregation and not her walls. Nonetheless, she underwent the first stage of what would soon alter her physical world. She would soon become "state of the art" once more.

She remained saddened when she thought of all who had passed through. Yet, she remained joyous that her new transformation would benefit so many to come. She loved to wonder of the future and could only...

Shelter from the Storm... Students flock toward the covered walkway in the midst of hurricane Isador's fury. When asked her feelings about the covered walk, Sherry Love replied, "I liked the covered walk because we used it on rainy days. Now, when I go to lunch, Foods, Chorus, and gym, I will get wet. I will miss it a lot." The class of 2003 remained the last graduating class to travel under the covered path toward the close of a school year.

for the future...

Kiski Area High School stood as a campus for over forty years of its history. The year 2003 marked a structural turning point for Kiski as it brought the beginning of the school's transformation from a campus to a connected school. Suprisingly, Kiski did not undergo many major renovation projects since its opening in the early sixties.

The renovation plans held many changes for the school. Students would no longer walk outside between classes. On a nice fall or spring day, walking outside gave everyone a breath of fresh air between classes or during lunch. During a rainy day, students huddled under the covered walkway to keep dry. Between classes in the winter, students bore the cold while avoiding snowflakes and drifting snow. On the hottest days of the year, students could seek shade under the walkway. Jon Langdon offered, "It protected my head so much from the sun that I will miss it."

Plans also included the addition of a two story building to the school. Before renovations, room 704 had the distinction as the only classroom not on the main floor. One new building, constructed between the main office and the lower cafeteria would house a new library and 12 new science rooms on the second floor, at the expense of the gardens in the courtyard.

As construction began to transform the campus of Kiski, plans included many great new facilities. Along with the state of the art science labs on the second floor of the new building, the renovation plans included a new gym, expanded cafeteria, and new music rooms, just to name a few. As the campus began to slowly transform, we could only "just imagine" what the renovations would provide for future Cavaliers.

of her life

crowning glory

Homecoming came perilously close to cancellation this year, all because of one name - Isadore. The name didn't refer to any trouble-making student, but rather to the intense hurricane whose three inches of rain made for a very muddy and wet homecoming. During the entire school day of September 27, students waited in anticipation for the decisive announcement: Kiski would continue with homecoming in spite of the rain!

The soggy conditions didn't faze either the Cavalier football team or the six couples that stood on the field at halftime. "The rain was a bit of a damper, but I didn't let it get to me," stated one of the members of the Court, Maryann Haugh. The football team contributed to the celebratory atmosphere by darting ahead quickly and maintaining their lead, allowing Latrobe to score only seven points. Due to the Cavs' amazing performance, anticipation reached a fevered pitch by the time Natalie Briscoe, Alicia Smail, Rebecca Ehalt, Crystal Heder, Shannon Kiehl, and Maryann Haugh walked onto Davis Field. Respectively, their escorts consisted of Adam Ferraccio, Mike Corcetti, Joe Mendicino, Zach Rupert, Cody Affrica, and Frank Amato. A hush fell over the crowd as everyone waited for the name of the Homecoming Queen to be called, then rose into a roar at the name of Rebecca Jo Ehalt.

"I don't picture myself fitting in the Homecoming Queen 'mold.' I never tried to be the popular girl in school, I just tried to see the good in everyone," offered Becca. Certainly, standing at Davis Field, holding her bouquet in her blue encased arm with a smile, Rebecca proved herself anything but the typical Homecoming Queen. "Winning was unforgettable, but winning with a cast on my arm was priceless," she remarked.

Even though only one could win, all the girls concurred that they would always treasure the experience. "It was definitely one of the most memorable moments of high school and I won't ever forget it," said Crystal Heder. With a hurricane and a queen wearing a cast, the 2002 Homecoming experience left its unique mark on all who attended.

Queen of our Hearts... Senior Rebecca Ehalt shows her excitement after winning the 41st title as Kiski Homecoming Queen. "Winning homecoming was an unforgettable experience. Winning homecoming with a broken wrist was priceless," offered Becca. Miss Ehalt also served as Class Secretary and Editor in Chief of the 2003 Kiski Campus Yearbook.

Gimme a K... Scott Joseph, Matt Riddle, and Justin Kiehl, rally for the Kiski Cavalier Football Team. When asked about decorating his body in blue and gold, Matt replied, "I show Kiski Pride by doing whatever I can to cheer for the teams. I will wear a Kiski shirt or paint Kiski on me with no shirt at all." At the homecoming game on September 27th, WPXI's Fedko chose Kiski High for the Spirit Award of the Week and the Kiski Band as their Band of the Week. Fedko visited the school on October 3 for a congratulatory assembly.

in blue and gold...

Go Kiski! Kiski students demonstrated their pride in many different ways throughout the school year. The traditional pep rallies on Friday afternoons before football home games brought the student body together to cheer the Cavalier sports teams to victory. A blue and gold sea of shirts filled the gym on pep rally afternoons. As the band performed the Kiski fight song, fans felt sensations of great pride. Extra excitement filled the air as the teams earned more victories. In addition, these pep rallies held the loudest noise level in recent memory.

Kiski students also showed their pride by attending the sporting events to support their fellow classmates. Whether at Davis Field for a football game, the gymnasium for a basketball game, or the track for a track and field meet, the support of the fans gave the teams an added boost toward victory. Cavalier fans painted their faces and decorated t-shirts to show their support for the football team. Senior Zach Pityk stated, "The enthusiasm from the fans was a great plus."

Activities other than sports also evoked a sense of pride in the students that participated in them. The marching band and the choirs took great pride in their awesome musical performances this year. The pride club sponsored a spirit week to get the student body involved and to take pride in the school. Many other clubs and organizations promoted Kiski pride in various manners as well.

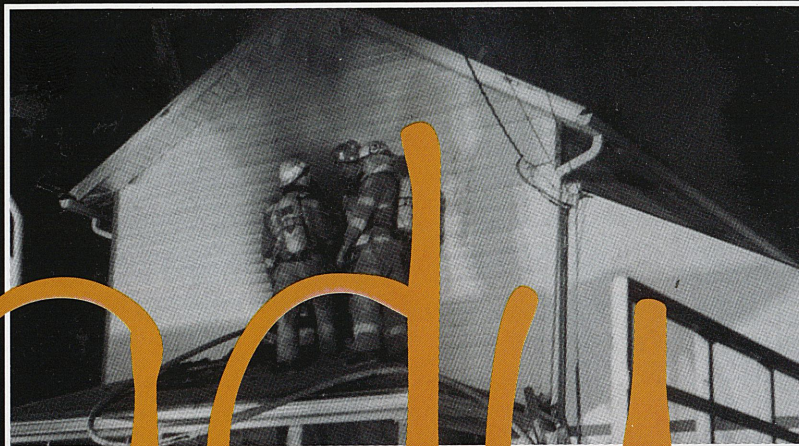

Kiski pride endured many ups and downs for over forty years. However, if the future reflects the actions and intentions of 2003, students could expect another great forty years of pride at the big "K."

Ready

rescue regiment

Before September 11th, the citizens of the United States perceived firemen and rescue workers as normal, ordinary people. Due to the selfless integrity and willingness to serve that New York City firemen and rescue workers displayed, the nation's perception of firemen changed completely. Following the events of 9/11, the nation immediately reflected upon rescue workers as everyday heroes.

This past year many Kiski students volunteered as firefighters; each held responsibilities at various volunteer fire departments ranging from Washington Township Volunteer Fire Department to Kiski Valley Special Services, Bell Township, Parks Township, and Export Fire Departments. In addition, business teacher Mr. Tom Schaeffer occupied the position of chief of the Vandergrift #1 Fire Department. We commended these individuals for willingly protecting our community. American citizens finally realized the significance of firefighters. When reflecting on the rescue workers who died for our country on September 11th, remember to keep our local firefighters in thought and prayer.

Members of Washington Township Fire Department included Jessica Collins, David Black, Ashley Wolfe, Amber Wolfe, Stacey Tuite, Mike Huth, Nick Carney and Matt Gibbons. Members of Bell Township Fire Department included Michael Miller, Michael Risher, Rich McKendrick, Crystal Strong, and Nick McMunn. Also, John Smith served as Lieutenant of the Avonmore Lifesavers. Members of Parks Township Fire Department included Thomas Filo, Ryan Kneppshield, and Ashley Hansen. Members of Export Fire Department included Timothy Writt and Michael Cline. Jeff Walker served both Hyde Park and Burrell Township Fire Departments. Freshman Brian Guyer served the Apollo Fire Department. Finally, members of Kiski Township Special Services included David Johns, Dan Porter, and Joe Clark. On behalf of the entire Kiski community, we wanted to thank each and every aforementioned individual for volunteering his or her time to make our area a safer place.

- Joshua Rupert

Saving Lives... Dan Porter, David Johns, Keith Mikell, Joe Clark and crew assist in the annual mock car crash sponsored by S.A.D.D. "I liked helping people that are incapable of helping themselves at the moment in time where they need it most," responded Dan about serving on a rescue unit. Many Kiski students also served as volunteer firemen for local fire companies.

God Bless America... Senior Amanda Wilson proudly plants the pole for the American Flag. Amanda offered, "Only hours after the attacks on September 11th, Walmart Inc. sold 216,000 American flags. Stores everywhere sold out of flags. I had always been proud to be an American, but for the first time I truly understood what that really meant." Students from National Honor Society donated their time and efforts to support the anniversary of September eleventh.

year later...

In the aftermath of the devastating terrorist attacks on 11 September 2001, in New York City and Washington, DC, the general attitude of citizens of the United States evolved from one of panic, to anger, even to resentment. The student body at Kiski Area provided a fairly accurate representation of the mixed American sentiments. Most informed students harbored strong feelings regarding both the attacks themselves, as well as subsequent actions, military or otherwise. Many instructors, having recognized this newfound political interest in their pupils, dedicated class time to discussion and debate concerning important international events.

Junior Jacob Yundt stated that "Overall, the 'average' student has not been affected on a personal scale; although, in my opinion, the mentality of the student body was definitely more patriotic." Not everyone shared this optimistic outlook, and many became critical of the government for its recent actions; however, even this view had constructive consequences, in contrast with teenagers' noted apathy towards politics and the world in general. With regard to any further hostile actions against the United States, most students seemed to exude a hopeful confidence, as exemplified by an anonymous senior- "I don't think anyone was afraid of another crisis. We felt stronger, more unified, [and] prepared."

As America remembered the devastating and troubling effects that the unprovoked attacks of 11 September had on the citizens of the United States, the final result reflected a resurgence of the quintessential "American Spirit," and a newfound sense of duty and responsibility in the modern world. Once again, Jacob Yundt summed it all up, "Even one year later, the general morale and nationalistic attitude of the students was still at an all time high."

tech-ed projects

This past year, the students of Mr. Ridgeway's Manufacturing classes built a business. Class members constructed and sold memorial wind chimes to commemorate the events of September 11th. The students governed every aspect of the business while Mr. Ridgeway acted as the owner. Members of the Tech-Ed performed tasks from choosing the actual project to assembling the product and also selling it. Mr. Ridgeway conducted interviews with classes to determine which students would best serve each department.

Divisions of the business included marketing, quality control, safety and maintenance, finance, and research and development. Two members from each class managed the finance department, while four to five students from each class presided over the remaining divisions. Mr. Ridgeway also appointed one student from each class to act as the company manager.

During the production process, students performed tasks at varying times; students in research and development completed work at the beginning of the project as their department chose which product to build. However, near the end of the production, these workers had little to do. Once the students completely assembled the project, they marketed half of their finished products to other students and the community, while they took the remaining fifty percent home.

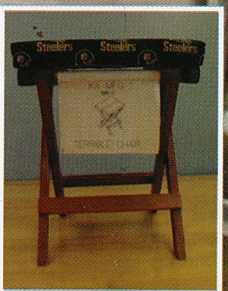

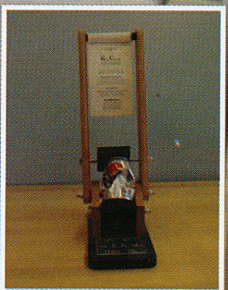

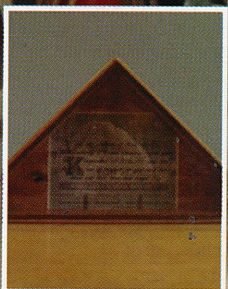

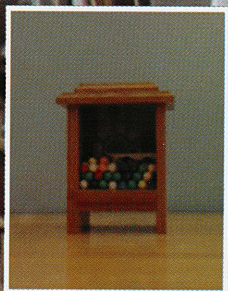

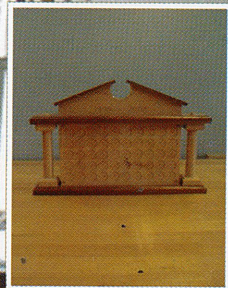

On the entire experience, Mr. Ridgeway offered, "This project provided the best way for students to understand the tremendous amount of work involved in setting up and maintaining a business." Certainly, those involved in the Tech-Ed project had firsthand experience similar to business in real-life.

- Joshua Rupert

Measuring Up... Jeremy Retter and Jon Stefaniak prepare to cut a piece of wood for their project. When asked about how Tech-Ed classes benefited him, Jeremy replied, "It benefited me by teaching me how to work on my own to make something that I designed. It taught me how to work efficiently to make my own product." Students in the Tech-Ed program got firsthand experience concerning real-life business.

Twice the Fun... Andrew Stockey from WTAE Channel 4 News presents Athletes of the Week, Scott and Chris McKillop, with trophies. When asked about the football season, Chris insisted, "We're going all the way to Heinz Field, Baby." Certainly, the team agreed.

on success...

Great things always seem to come in pairs. Apparently, now so do linebackers. Chris and Scott McKillop recently made WTAE history when they became the first pair of brothers to receive its Operation Football Player of the Week award. Their talent and dedication drew the attention of Operation Football and Andrew Stockey to Kiski for the third time in four years, following their predecessors of Jamie Vick and Corey Smith. The McKillop brothers proved themselves crowd favorites as they lent their amazing defensive skills to one Kiski win after another.

Students showed both their pride in their football team and their excitement at seeing Andrew Stockey and his news cameras yet again at a special assembly held in Chris and Scott's honor. As the players proudly strode in, wearing their Operation Football shirts, deafening shouts and whistles rose from a crowd more spirited than Kiski had seen in a long time. Signs made out of book covers waved as Andrew presented the brothers with their double trophies, and Principal Anthony Nicholas with a check for $250.

When the time came for a speech, the McKillops thanked their team, their parents, and especially their fans, which erupted in proud and excited shouts and cheers. They showed themselves quick to share the credit with the rest of their hardworking team, and to demonstrate their appreciation for their countless enthusiastic fans. Their teammates, likewise, poured forth congratulations and support for Chris and Scott. "Chris and Scott were a big part of the team and they deserved Player of the Week. I was happy for both of them," offered fellow junior player Anthony Cellitti emphatically. Certainly, if the third time remained so charmed, just imagine what the fourth time will bring.

Superintendent

Superintendent of Schools

So Long Great Friend...

Dr. Stephen M. Vak began his tenure at Kiski Area School District twenty-one years ago. Sadly, at the end of this school year, one chapter of his life came to an end as he retired from the position of superintendent of the school district. As a result of his philosophy, "teaching is not a job, it is a way of life," the Kiski Area School District vastly flourished.

Since Vak's arrival at Kiski, countless things changed for the better. He reduced the number of properties held by the district from fifteen elementary schools to seven, three junior high schools to one, and eliminated an administration and supply building. Also, since he came to Kiski, student test scores vastly improved. Twenty-one years later, the state of Pennsylvania recognized the Kiski Area School District as one of the top twenty percent of all PA state schools, and numerous other schools perceived this district as a model for their own. Naturally, Vak did not take any of the credit for these improvements. He pointed out that hiring the right teachers contributed to the recent academic successes of Kiski.

His unceasing labors will continue to bring satisfaction to the community on into the future because he pioneered a major facilities project to remodel the high school. We must all commend Dr. Vak for the work he put into this district. As a result of Dr. Vak's tireless efforts, the Kiski Area School District went from being a mediocre school to a premier school in the state.

She continued, "The most rewarding aspect about my job was the interaction with the students and their parents." Prior to working at Kiski, Mrs. Chierici worked at St. James Elementary School.

Guided Paths

This year, many seniors counted down the number of days until their graduation day. However, for most students, their senior year would not have gone as smoothly without the help of the guidance counselors. All of the guidance counselors did what ever they could to ensure a successful year and future for the seniors. This guidance counselors held senior interviews in which they made sure the seniors had all of the necessary credits for graduation. The guidance counselors also made sure the seniors stayed constantly informed about all the standardized tests, deadlines, scholarships, and financial aid. They offered web sites, brochures, applications, and even videos on every college imaginable. Although the guidance counselors agreed that their job became hectic at times, they all said it pleased them to see Kiski's students graduate and have success in the future. Mrs. Antenucci said, "Everyday I learn something new about my job and the students. I love being here. I love my job." All of the guidance counselors helped make many of Kiski Area's seniors' dreams come true.

Awesome Approaches

The English Department certainly never ceased its flow of original and stimulating teaching techniques to help make the learning process interesting and rewarding for both the teachers and students. For example, Ms. Cindy Anthony's accelerated sophomore class saw Charles Dickens's A Christmas Carol at the Byham Theater in December. The experience helped Ms. Anthony's students find a new appreciation for such literary works as those composed by Dickens. Her pupils escaped the confines of a tedious reading assignment and encountered the full effect of literary genius right before their eyes. "Plays truly bring literature to life," remarked sophomore Katie Terrana.

Mr. Tom Berzonsky also took a more creative route of teaching throughout the school year. One such instance of his inventive style occurred when his junior academic class read Edgar Allen Poe's The Fall of the House of Usher. His assignment involved the students separating into small groups and choosing a scene from the story, which they performed for the class. The task helped gain student comprehension and interest in the story. Without a doubt, the English teachers did a commendable job of creating a more appealing learning environment for their students.

Timeless Classics... Mr. Berzonsky discusses a classic work of literature with his students. Concerning his love of literature, Mr. Berzonsky said, "A professor Dr. Ronald Shafer inspired my love of literature and communicating that love to change lives and inspire others." Mr. Berzonsky sponsored the fishing club and coached the junior high cross country team as well as the varsity girls track and field team.

When asked about his favorite laboratory experiment, Joey stated, "I liked the flame test lab the best." Joey and many other chemistry students witnessed various chemical reactions in the laboratory this year.

Chemical Changes

Kiski's science department underwent a revolution. But this revolution did not consist of rebellious chemistry students, but of two new science teachers. Mrs. Megan Thimons and Ms. Juliet Meledandri constitute the majority of the science teachers now, which transformed the previously exclusively male department.

Mrs. Thimons, born and raised in the Pittsburgh area, graduated from Carrick High School in 1995 and pursued her lifelong dream of becoming a high school teacher when she enrolled at Duquesne University. She received her B.S. in chemistry and her M.S. in education in 1999 and began teaching chemistry in Penn Hills School District before she transferred to Kiski Area at the beginning of this school year. She taught both academic and advanced placement chemistry and stated that she tried "to make chemistry a fun and gratifying experience."

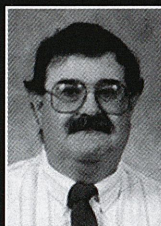

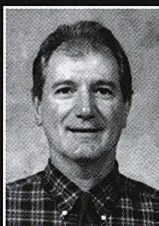

Ms. Meledandri attended Pitt for her B.S. in chemistry and Duquesne University for her M.S. She later worked at the Research Lab at PPG in Springdale and taught at Indiana Senior High before she came to Kiski Area at the beginning of the current school year. Interestingly, her job as a math tutor in college steered her towards her present career. "I did my first calculus review session and decided that teaching was what I wanted to do," she explained. At Kiski, she also teaches chemistry and sponsored the Gifted Science class.

Both teachers seemed to have adjusted to Kiski Area and had enjoyed their experiences so far. "Every day in my class is fun," reported Ms. Meledandri. They faced many challenges in their first year as the "new" teachers on the block, but to them, the rewards outweighed all the stress. "All my students are wonderful. We have a great time. I really like it here," said Ms. Meledandri. Both she and Mrs. Thimons appeared on their way to filling the shoes of legendary science teachers such as Mr. Varine and Mr. Barsic, while enjoying every minute of it.

Business as Usual

Most students often overlooked the significance of the student store, which the business department ran and maintained. Many students depended upon the student store to appease "sweet" cravings in the middle of the day. When asked about her favorite purchase item, Laura McDermott replied, "I often bought Skittles and Gummi Bears." However, workers did not only sell candy. The student store also held Kiski Area sweatshirts, gym suits, and other fine memorabilia. Like any business, the student store could not function without the help of many competent and eager individuals.

Teachers and students labored together to manage the store. Mr. Thomas Schaeffer and Mrs. Denise Maganello oversaw the establishment and made sure that business ran as usual. Workers Krystal Martin, Joe Rosenberger, and Heidi Held also lent their expertise to the cause. These many individuals sacrificed much of their free time to provide students and teachers with snacks and goodies. The student store once again remained a Kiski landmark that all could share.

On the Road Again

When asked about her worst driving experience, senior Gillian Friday replied, "I hit a deer and the grill fell off of my car." Students that attended Drivers Ed learned how to possibly avoid such an event. In a time when laws consistently changed, students kept up to date on the new driving laws in the Driver Education course. The course held two components, the classroom component and the driving portion. The classes consisted mostly of sophomores not yet old enough to drive and new drivers with their permits or licenses. Mr. Woitas instructed the classroom portion of the course and informed the students of the many driving laws and regulations. In addition, students also learned many driving techniques such as driving in the snow or rain, turning, and parking.

The second portion of the course, the driving portion, allowed the students to put the techniques learned in the course into practice. Mr. Woitas, along with Mr. Sherid, instructed the driving portion of the course. Students drove during their study halls or after school to complete the hours necessary for certification. Combining these two portions gave the young drivers the skills and knowledge they needed to develop into better drivers.

Done By the Book

Returning to the library after teaching in the English department, Mrs. Susan Gero assumed the position of high school librarian. Mrs. Gero came back to the library after the retirement of longtime librarian, Mr. Kulas. Before the three junior high schools merged in the 1980s, Mrs. Gero served as the librarian at Allegheny-Hyde Park Junior High School.

During this year, Mrs. Gero spent much of her time removing old books, magazines, and materials from the library. Yearbook advisor, Mr. Fantaski, commented, "If Mrs. Gero sent us one more copy of the 1981 yearbook, I would have held the bonfire that never happened this year." This necessary cleaning prepared the library for the move to the new library in the coming years. The plans for the new library, the third library in Kiski High School's history, included a larger facility, over one hundred state of the art computers, and an adjoining classroom. In addition to preparing for the new library, Mrs. Gero assisted the students in research for various projects, especially the senior research paper. She enjoyed the transition to the library for many reasons; she stated, "The library gave me a way to work with some of my former students, but in a new environment."

Classroom Excellence

He dealt with cars falling off of cliffs, cannons firing, and people flying through the air every day. No, this did not describe Superman, it merely told of a day in the life of Mr. Fran DeSantis, this year's Teacher of the Year.

Mr. DeSantis taught both Physics and AP Physics at Kiski for the past five years. Before his teaching job here, he attended the Rochester Institute of Technology. His first job actually did not involve teaching at all, as he held the position of electrical engineer for 11 years before deciding to give teaching a try.

This year's seniors voted to bestow the title on him, and the reason presented itself to anyone who watched him teach or took one of his classes. Even though he had just recently come to Kiski compared to most of the other faculty, Mr. DeSantis's obvious enthusiasm and enjoyment made it seem as if he taught for many more than his five years. "I like it all," he declared with a smile, "especially working individually with the students."

He appeared both surprised and grateful when he became informed of the title given to him by the seniors. "I feel like it's a great honor," he explained. "After all, students are the best judges of the teachers." It also seemed that every student that had attended a class taught by Mr. DeSantis had a favorite story to tell.

The fact that Mr. DeSantis shared the enjoyment of his students had become apparent throughout his years here. "Overall, the students are well-behaved and friendly," he stated. "The students are the ones that really make the job enjoyable."

"They were very enjoyable to work with. As I helped them each day the progress they achieved was overwhelming," remarked senior Amy Antonucci of the Buddies. The Life Skills classes served as a unique opportunity not only for the students themselves, but also for their teachers and student helpers like Amy known as "buddies." The students learned numerous academic subjects such as mathematics, reading, and spelling. To stimulate the learning process, Ms. Mary Leezer and Ms. Diane Donati incorporated many interesting activities into the school day. In order to broaden the students' writing skills, the teachers taught the pupils how to compose weather forecasts and news articles that reflected recent happenings.

The Life Skills class also learned many skills for use in daily life, such as how to budget money, set the table, and prepare meals. The pupils had the opportunity to cook foods like pretzels and pizza muffins. The class also played several games in the gym daily, with football dominating as the class favorite. Such activities truly brightened the students' learning experience, helping them all to acquire numerous skills.

All in a Day's Work

Although long lunch lines, occasional line jumpers and spill here and there do not sound too appealing, the food service staff still dedicated their hard craftsmanship to make lunch times enjoyable. Here at Kiski, administrators decided that these employees deserved an ease from work. A new computer debit system, installed in both cafeterias, enabled all students to buy lunch more quickly. To prepare for the system, the students had their portraits taken and received PIN numbers to use when they purchased lunch in the hot foods line. The new system consisted of two basic components: a twelve button keypad and a touch screen monitor which allowed the cashier to enter the students' selections. "New items were added to the menu all the time and caused much chaos in remembering prices. The new system eased this problem tremendously," exclaimed Lillian Robron, a member of the Lower Cafeteria staff. With the changes made to the lunch periods last year and the new computer debit system, lines moved more rapidly, money-forgetting students ate lunch everyday, and the staff gained more time to smile at lunch.

What's Cookin'? Senior Tony Emanuel brews up something special in Culinary Arts class at tech. "Culinary Arts has prepared me to be more mature, more comfortable with my colleagues, and also more competent in the skill areas," commented Tony on his experience at Vo-Tech. In Culinary Arts, students learned the skills to open their own restaurant or to cook in an existing establishment.

Food for Thought...

culinary arts

The Vo-Tech culinary program prepared aspiring young chefs for future work in the field. Culinary students finished various projects throughout the year. In attempting those projects, the culinary students increased their individual skill levels. In November, each culinary student completed a project for the open house. Additionally, they prepared lunches and sold cookies.

The students enjoyed many different aspects of the culinary program. They enjoyed meeting and working with many different people from various schools in the region. Preparing different types of food also made this program interesting and enjoyable.

These future chefs did not know where their careers would take them. Many of them expressed a location where they would like to work. Lisa Pfeffer, a junior, stated that she would like to work on a cruise ship. Another culinary student, Mindy Jordan, said she wanted to work in a hotel. The Vo-Tech culinary program prepared future cooks for work in whatever location their career would take them.

Squaring It Off...

his year many students chose cosmetology as their Vo-Tech program because of its interesting curriculum and many future career opportunities. Cosmetology incorporated such skills like hair cutting, hair styling, manicures, facials, pedicures, make-up, and waxing. If students came across any difficulties, the teachers' helpful knowledge could guide them through whatever obstacle they encountered.

Like the teachers, other students provided help and assistance. The class allowed students and teachers to interact with each other at all times. This created a friendly and fun environment in which students successfully worked. The class's easygoing atmosphere made many projects and assignments enjoyable. However, at times the students found themselves frustrated with a difficult project. Although the class gave students a challenge, the students still found it very worthwhile. Alexis Thompson, a junior in the program, offered, "It was fun because I could make people feel better about themselves while still doing something I really loved to do." Many other students enrolled in the cosmetology program felt exactly the same way. Every student had the opportunity to receive an excellent education in the area they had the most interest.

In the future, I plan to get a job from Vo-Tech to lay bricks," offered Scott on his plans after graduation. Students spent many hours perfecting their skills to ensure their bright futures.

Another Brick in the Wall... masonry

Students in the masonry program at Vo-Tech completed various projects throughout the year. One particular project took approximately four weeks and used synthetic mortar, mortar boards, two-foot levels, four-foot levels, brick hammers, strikers, and brick tongs to build. At ten courses high and eight inches wide, the students completed a successful project. The development process allotted the students an impressive level of hands-on work experience. Josh Shirley, a junior involved in the program, stated, "Constructing the layout taught us to string mortar and lay brick." Dave Black also said, "Working with Mr. Lombardo helped me learn so many new things that will have a great impact on my future." As the students progressed in the program, so did the project difficulty. Other projects, for example, arcs, benches, and sculptures, advanced the course. Students worked on sculptures such as ducks, bears, and swans. These projects allowed the students to demonstrate their creativity and to have fun in designing their work. The hands-on experience that the program provided allowed for the students to develop their skills for their future career.

Plane and Simple...Ryan Blanciak builds a cabinet in carpentry class. Ryan commented, "Hopefully, I will be able to get a job in the business of cabinet making in the future." Many of the Vo-Tech carpentry projects actually became installed in local businesses around the area.

Mr. Clean...Chris Guyer cleans an alternator in preparation for a show motor. "I feel that Vo-Tech was a great place to improve my understanding of how things worked and what they did," stated Chris on his Tech experience. Students in the automotive area at Vo-Tech learned all aspects of auto maintenance and repair.

In the automotive mechanics department of the Northern Westmoreland Career and Technology Center this year, sounds of revving engines and clanging tools filled the air. Students busied themselves with a seemingly never-ending list of tasks including brake replacement, engine and transmission repair, and tire changes.

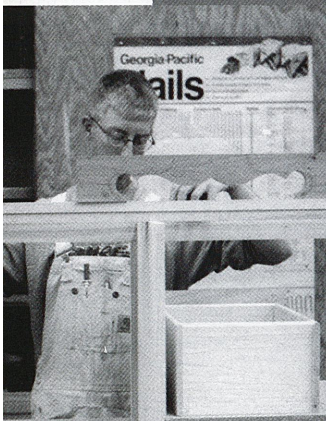

While enrolled in the auto-mechanics division of Vo-Tech, students developed the skills, responsibilities, and maturity needed to enter the work force. Not only did the students get the opportunity to work with others interested in automotive repair, but they also received the chance to learn in an atmosphere where repairing vehicles heads the list of priorities. "I like being able to work hands-on with cars while in school," said junior Chris Guyer, a three-year student in the program. "This way, after I graduate I will be ready to get a good job."

The program's curriculum included of a variety of individual and group assignments. The seniors' main project consisted of disassembling an engine and then putting it back together without help from their instructors.

Although the course proved challenging for most students, few complained. "All the hard work now will pay off later," offered junior Michael Shirey.

- Adam Haag

Inch by Inch...Will Hartman measures the inside width of a television space. "Tech improved me by furthering my knowledge in the carpentry field," commented Will. He hopes to join the Carpenters' Joint Apprenticeship Union on Nevel Island in the future.

UNDER THE BIG TOP

Barnum Musical Entertains All

Every year, Kiski Area students, faculty, and other individuals looked forward to the annual musical. Last year, Kiski students performed the musical Barnum. Starring Matt Colella as Barnum and Sara Meister as his wife, Barnum captivated audiences every night of the production. Every person involved played a vital role in making the musical a success.

From actors, singers, pit players, and backstage and make-up crews, they worked around the clock for several months preparing for opening night. Stephanie Riddle commented, "I loved everything involved in preparing for the musical. It was a lot of work, but it all definitely paid off in the end."

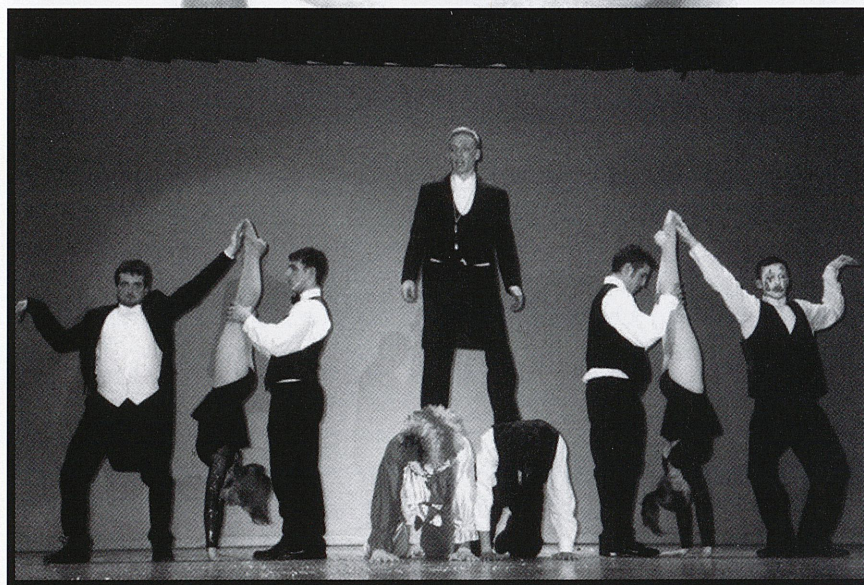

Although cast members became worn out, stressed, and tired, they stayed determined and focused until the final curtain call. Each night, they walked out on stage to overwhelming applause accompanied by a standing ovation.

The excellent performances by the cast illustrated its hard work at practices. The great production of Barnum certainly left the audiences in anticipation of 2003's musical.

- Melissa Kownacki

In Dramatic Pose... Past graduates, along with Dan Fensch, offer up a tasty dance sequence for the audience. Cast member Dan commented, "It was fun to learn to walk on stilts." Many Kiski graduates have gone on to pursue careers in theater because they became involved with the fine musical program at the high school.

Swoon City... Graduate Matt Colella belts out yet another show stopper with his incredible voice. Matt offered, "Barnum was a high-energy, action-packed and memorable experience that helped me to become better in my craft." Matt and graduate Chris Truffa shared the leading role, each giving two awesome performances.

WHAT DID YOU MOST ENJOY ABOUT THE MUSICAL?

"I jumped on Bethany Bollinger's back during the circus. The last night, she dropped me and I fell right on my purple tutu!"

Cara Badac

"The best part was when the stilt walkers came out."
Danny Fensch

Big Voice Under the Big Top... Ian Toy entertains the crowd with his lyrical voice. "Barnum was a very fun, but very chaotic experience. I can't wait to do it again," commented Ian. This year, Ian held the lead in Brigadoon and gave an equally stellar performance.

Marital Bliss... Zach Clark and Robert Bruton act out a scene where Leonato gives Claudio permission to marry his daughter, Hero. When asked about his favorite play memory, Robert replied, "Ian Candy's pre-show performance of The Angriest Man in the World always had the whole cast laughing." Robert hoped to attend college for theater.

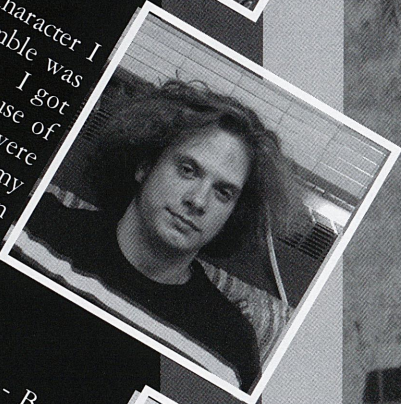

"My character in the play was Don Pedro whom I most resemble because our names start with the same letter. Don John was a close 2nd."
Doug Replegle

"I feel I was most like Hero, because like Hero, people often tended to misinterpret my personality."
Miss Hallerlein

"The character I most resemble was Benedick. I got the part because of my own severe sarcasm and my immense disdain toward women."
Mark Logan

"Beatrice - Because she had a stubborn facade and uses humor to avoid awkward situations. Inside, she was really sentimental and vulnerable."
Miss Slater

"While my own part did not reflect my personality, I think that I am most like Hero because of her quiet nature."
Gillian Friday

Much-Ado Experiences Much Success

As the lights gleamed and the curtains parted, the audience no longer saw Kiski's ordinary stage, but instead beheld the city of Messina, Italy, the setting of this year's drama, Much Ado About Nothing. Directed by Ms. Slater and Ms. Halterlein, the remarkably talented cast members performed a hilarious portrayal of this Shakespearean play about revenge and surrendering to love.

During the exhausting rehearsals, tedious set design, and technical endeavors, the cast and crew members worked to make this year's drama a spectacular experience for everyone. Their toil paid off as each performance from November 20-23 received a standing ovation.

The drama did not only consist of work, however. Those involved found many ways to enjoy themselves. When asked about his favorite part of the drama, junior Doug Replogle, who played the role of Don Pedro, excitedly replied, "The absolute angriest man in the world," a line from the song written by senior Ian Candy that some of the cast members sang backstage. From backstage jokes to hilarious comedy, everyone found something to enjoy in Much Ado About Nothing.

- Amanda Peppler

Good Acting...Dan Vida and Nick Artman discuss the courtship with Margaret. Nick offered, "The best part of the show happened when Lauren accidentally pulled down Doug's pants in a performance." Nick planned on acting in two more Kiski dramas before he continued on to college to major in theater.

Always in Character...Elizabeth Wright, Stephanie Riddle, and Gillian Friday make it through a difficult scene. "This scene was really tough for me because everyone was laughing hysterically and I had to stay completely serious," stated Stephanie. Miss Riddle hoped to make drama an integral part of her life for the next couple of years.

ALTER EGOS

Halloween Coffeehouse

A terrifying tryst of masqued Kiski Area students once again marked the timeless Pagan ritual celebration of Halloween this year. The dismal and gloomy atmosphere culminated at the day's end with the Student Council-sponsored Halloween Coffeehouse, wherein many a fiendish specter paraded in costume to one of the two ghastly cafeterias. No human sacrifices took place this year with the demons' lustful hunger instead sated by various sinister sodas and the nefarious "nectar of the gods," pizza. Though the day may seem eerie and ominous to some, all who attended the Halloween Coffeehouse had a terrific time.

- John Scarfutti

Dressed to Kill...Senior Tony Emanuel stuns the school in his Mrs. Gatto attire. Tony commented, "The thing that I will miss most about Kiski is dressing up every Halloween as a teacher." On Tony's efforts, Mrs. Gatto said, "The hair was good and the nails were perfect, but I wouldn't be caught dead in that dress." In past years, Tony had dressed as Mr. Nicholas, Mr. Voytek, and Mr. Grimm.

Camo Men...Steve Cox, Dan Cox, and Brian Turack don their military duds for the school. When asked about the possibility of becoming drafted, Steve replied, "War can be avoided, but if I were drafted, I would do my duties." The three traveled the halls with their walkie-talkies the entire day, never breaking character.

WHAT WAS YOUR ALL-TIME FAVORITE COSTUME?

A Clean Break... John Doyle stands on his crutches as he imitates senior Chris McKillop. "You know, I just wanted to go out there and give 110%. I think I did. We all did. Great fans. Great players. Great football," commented John in his best football sounding voice. Outside of school, John enjoyed playing in his band, Lifted.

"My favorite costume was the vampire costume I wore to school this year. It had a great effect on people."
Zachary Pityk

"My favorite costume would have to be this year's because I got to dress up like a bum and beg for change."
John Porter

"It would definitely be my Jedi costume. When I wear it I have special powers just like a Jedi. I can make things levitate. Plus, you got to love carrying a light saber."
Mr. Dosch

"When I was a princess. I took an old bridesmaid dress and added lace and ruffles so I felt like a princess. I even made a crown to go with it."
Ashley Ray

"When I wore the punk costume, my hair was blue and I had a lip ring and other scary clothes. No one expected me to come to school that way."
Jessica Banks

WHERE DID YOU WORK AND WHERE DID YOUR MONEY GO?

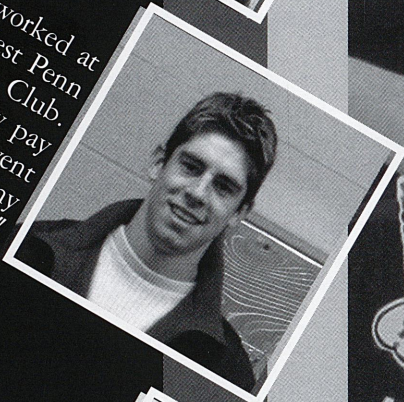

"I worked at Bob's Inn. Most of my money went toward a summer trip to North Carolina."
Will Ballentine

"I worked at Catherine's Convenient Store. Most of my money into the band or to Best Bay."
Seth Hummel

"I worked at West Penn Sportsmen Club. Most of my pay check went toward my Jeep CJ7."
Gory Mondie

"I worked at Wendy's. Most of my money went to shopping for clothes."
LeeAnn Brown

"I worked at Giant Eagle. My pay check went mostly to my girlfriend."
Josh Wilhelm

Sweet as Pie... Andrea Berger loads goodie supplies out of the van for Gail's Lady Locks. "It was a little crazy at times, but it was so much fun working there. I actually enjoyed going to work," commented Andrea on baking the best treats in the valley. Andrea had worked for Gail for two and a half months at the time of this great shot.

WORKING CLASS

Looking into After School Jobs

What did cell phones, movie tickets, computer games, car insurance, new clothes, and food money all have in common? Each item represented a "necessity" for the 2003 teenager. Fifty years ago, the average youth worried about money for the drive-in and money for gasoline. The year 2003, however, presented many other choices and possibilities for Kiski students.

To pay for all of the goods, most students had to hold down a part-time job. Some popular work sites included: Wendy's, Giant Eagle, K-Mart, Hollister, and J.C. Penneys. Other students earned their extra cash in disc-jockeying, catering, and by working in construction.

Freshman, Phil Stephenson, commented on his job at Fox's Pizza, "I usually work three days throughout the week and sometimes on the weekend if they need me." Phil also offered that most of his money goes toward new clothes. Sophomore, Steve Porter, said, "Both I and my brother worked at McDonalds, usually on the weekends. I spent most of my money on movie tickets and car insurance."

Whether working in the food industry, retail, or any other avenue toward moneymaking, Kiski students certainly put in their time to pay for the many prices of the teen years.

- Becca Ebelt

Pound by Pound by Pounds...

Bethany Pounds, Lauren Pounds, and Jonathan Kummick load in the turkeys at Pounds' Turkey Farm in Allegheny Township. Jon said, "I enjoyed my job because I got to spend time outside instead of being stuck in a building. I also worked for wonderful people and they treated me like their own kid." Jon had helped out on the farm for over one and a half years.

May I Take Your Order...

Amanda Milisits, Ashley Tutchstone, and LeeAnn Brown serve up fine cuisine at Wendy's. Amanda commented, "Working was fun because my close friends work there." Many people around the community looked forward to the new Wendy's to provide some variety in choosing fast-food.

Captain's Corner

High expectations surrounded the Cavalier football team going into the season. With many key contributors back from last year, numerous individuals expected Kiski to become a force in the playoffs.

However, midway through the season, standout linebacker and running back Chris McKillop broke his ankle. As a result of this serious injury, everyone questioned the team's future. After the injury, however, the Kiski Area Football Team came together under the motto, "One Team One Heartbeat." Numerous players stepped up their play to compensate for the loss of McKillop. Senior Frank Scatena replied, "We all knew that we had to step up our playing when Chris got hurt. We did our best to fill his shoes."

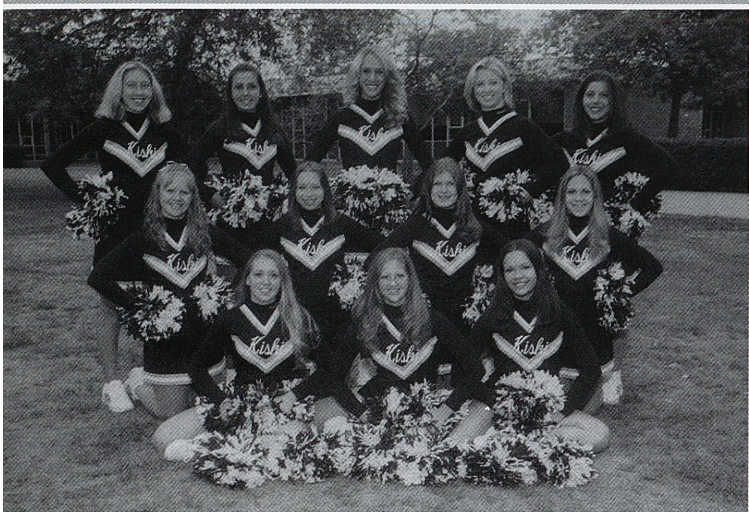

The team finished the season with a record of 6 and 4 and made it to their second consecutive playoff season despite the injury to McKillop. Due to the hard work and camaraderie within the team, the football players enjoyed an extremely successful season.

Tew people stopped and thought about how much hard work and preparation the cheerleaders put into the pep assemblies throughout the year. Before every one of the pep assemblies that Kiski held this year, the cheerleaders practiced a couple of nights before the assembly and ran through their entire routine numerous times. The cheerleaders usually performed one or two cheers and a couple of dance routines to get the crowd excited.

Casey Cupec, a varsity cheerleader, said, "Performing our competition dance during the pep assemblies made the pep assemblies more fun for both me and the rest of the cheerleading squad." The girls looked forward to performing their competition dance for the pep assemblies. To both the cheerleaders and the students' disappointment, sometimes the squad did not have enough time to perform their entire routine. However, whether or not the students and faculty saw all of the cheerleaders' dances, cheers, and stunts, the pep assemblies always turned out successful. Due to their enormous talent, hard work, and dedication, the ensemble helped to make every pep assembly fun for everyone.

"This year's squad was a young group, but everyone came a long way and worked well together. Though the levels of experience differed, the enthusiasm to strive for excellence made for a very successful year."

Champion Cheerers

Lifting Spirits... Fellow cheerleaders raise Cara Spisak high into the air to root on the football team at an afternoon pep assembly. "Mounting made me feel like a cheerleading princess. However, it took me 5 minutes of mental preparation because my whole left side was retarded. I was always afraid that I would pull a Tiffany and end up in the hospital," offered Cara on one aspect of cheering. The Lady Cavs enjoyed another fine year promoting Kiski pride.

What sport do you most like to cheer for and why?

"I enjoyed cheering for football the most. You were right there on the sidelines and all up in the action."

Bonny Seighman

"The sport I most liked to cheer for was wrestling. What girl would not like to see guys in spandex?"

Tiffany Sinclair

"I loved cheering for football because of the crowd involvement in the game. Kiski had tremendous school spirit."

Julie Dykes

Just Bring It

Kickin' It Up... Frank Ily and Jarid Kovalcik eagerly await the ball. Ily offered, "Steve Crooks and Scott Hodges were excellent choices for this season's captains; however, I feel that I was overlooked. I guess charm and charisma no longer mean anything." The soccer team ended the season in a tough section with 7 wins, 12 losses, and one tie.

In your opinion, discuss the worst game of the season.

"The away game against Charleroi was the worst game. Our star player, Crystal Heder, went down and we were devastated."

Shauna Moser

"The JV team played its worst game against Penn Trafford. We were shut out and everyone was playing very slowly."

Wesley Kendle

"The worst game of the season - was when we got killed by the worst team in the section, making us the worst team. Then I injured my knee."

The autumn of 2002 proved especially hard on the Boys and Girls Varsity Soccer Teams. Having overcome numerous obstacles this year, the players certainly earned the right to revel in their accomplishment. Plagued by injuries, both teams still finished the season in high spirits.

Early in the season, in fact before regular competitions began, fate began to bode poorly for the ladies' team. In a pre-season scrimmage, Crystal Heder, senior, captain, and possible candidate for the most valuable player award, injured her knee. As a result, she missed most of the season. This event marked the beginning of a series of calamities, in which Rebecca Ehalt and Emily Evans, both seniors and captains, fell victim to a broken wrist and an injured ankle, respectively. With all three captains injured, the freshmen took it upon themselves to make up the difference, and gave a fantastic effort in doing so.

The gentlemen's soccer team suffered a similar fate as the ladies'. An ankle injury and an upper body injury befell the two captains, seniors Scott Hodges and Steve Crooks, respectively. Again, the underclassmen did their best to salvage the season. This motivation, coupled with the efforts of the two new coaches, Mr. Timothy Sharek Sr., and Ms. Mary Miller, proved effective in rallying player confidence.

The obstacles with which plagued the 2002 soccer teams, and the players' will to overcome them, became a true testament to the determination of the members of both squads. Perhaps best put by Rebecca Ehalt, "This season was very different; it was fun, but we had a lot of injuries. We really made the most of it. KAGS forever!"

The cross country team ran many miles before they slept this season. Each runner ran over 500 miles and performed many high-mileage and high-speed workouts to prepare for their various meets throughout the season.

Both of the boys and girls teams included many younger runners. The boys team, led by senior captain Michael Nigra, had a 2-6 record (2-7 overall) in the very difficult Section IV. Showing great improvement and dedication throughout the season, the boys team laid much of the groundwork for future success throughout the year.

The girls team combined youth and experience and achieved their goal of winning a section championship, the first title since 1998. Also running in a difficult section, the girls team, led by senior captains, Tasha Wheatley, Emily Lion, and Kara Shirley, achieved a 7-1 record (8-1 overall). Younger runners played an important part in the team's success with record-breaking performances by freshmen Meaghan Conroy and Maddelena McDonnell.

The athletes gained a great deal of experience and could only just imagine the heights that their experience and abilities would take them.

Captain's Corner

nce again, the golf teams upheld winning records and Kiski's reputation of producing talented, hardworking athletes. With the coaching of Mr. Mottura and Mrs. Gibson, both teams put in the practice, time and devotion needed to achieve positive records and many personal goals. The girls team, for instance, set the goal of scoring a team score of less than 190 in a home match and setting the home course record. They achieved this goal with a score of 189.

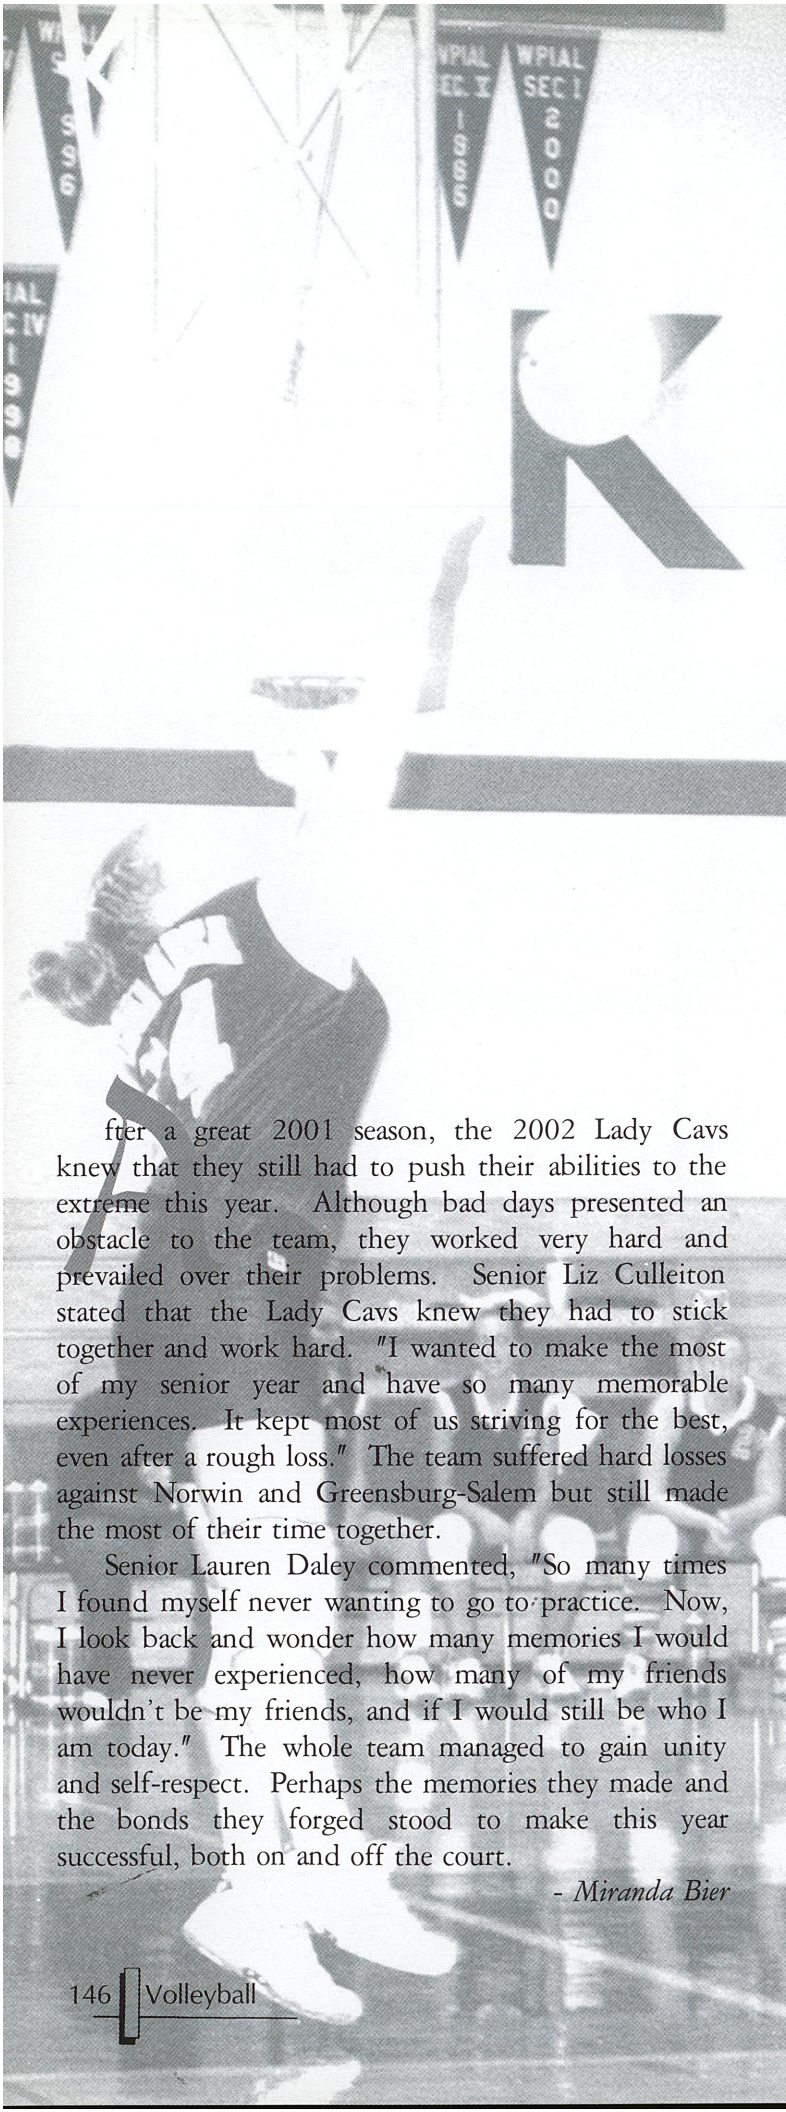

"We really united as a team by following the lead of the team veterans and bonding together," commented sophomore Lauren Golembiewski. The team's obvious morale and unity played a major role in their second place section finish.

"Although the boys did not make the playoffs, we had a winning record and did well individually," remarked junior Jon Golembiewski. Jon and sophomore Aaron Williams advanced to the WPIAL championships.

Both teams had an extremely productive year personally, if not in the arena of the playoffs.

- Amanda Peppler

After a great 2001 season, the 2002 Lady Cavs knew that they still had to push their abilities to the extreme this year. Although bad days presented an obstacle to the team, they worked very hard and prevailed over their problems. Senior Liz Culleton stated that the Lady Cavs knew they had to stick together and work hard. "I wanted to make the most of my senior year and have so many memorable experiences. It kept most of us striving for the best, even after a rough loss." The team suffered hard losses against Norwin and Greensburg-Salem but still made the most of their time together.

Senior Lauren Daley commented, "So many times I found myself never wanting to go to practice. Now, I look back and wonder how many memories I would have never experienced, how many of my friends wouldn't be my friends, and if I would still be who I am today." The whole team managed to gain unity and self-respect. Perhaps the memories they made and the bonds they forged stood to make this year successful, both on and off the court.

Kiski's tennis teams aced another fun-filled season of close friendships and increasing talents. The dedication of girls' head coach Mr. Antonucci and boys' head coach Mr. Santia carried on through another year to better the tennis program.

Under the leadership of team captains Lynsey Tallarom and Alayna Angiulli, the girls tennis team served up some hot competition this year. In section singles, Lynsey made it to the second round of the playoffs. Section doubles team Ashley Woolheater and Ashley Rudy also competed to the second round.

The boys team also made a mark on the playoffs. Team captain Matt Seren competed to the second round in section singles. Both tennis teams certainly racked up an ample set of accomplishments during the season.

"We steadily got better," commented junior Jack Grant. "We had a lot of newcomers with enough talent to help us have an even better season next year." With the upcoming talent to look forward to, the competition will hold no match for the Kiski Area tennis teams next season.

The Cavaliers always seemed to fill the cold wintry months with vigorous competition and intense excitement. Returning from a section championship and a strong playoff run, the boys team had big shoes to fill. However, with outstanding senior leadership and the veteran coaching skills of Larry Rupert and assistant coaches Denny Rupert, Sam Intrieri, and Dave Murray, the 2002-03 squad hoped for a repeat of last year's performance.

Seniors Greg Hutcherson, Zach Rupert, and Phil Paolo, paced the team with an offensive punch and a suffocating defense that often left their opponents wondering what hit them. A promising junior cast contributed to the Cavs' successful season.

The team always felt that they had an advantage over their opponent. "The best part about our team was the chemistry. We were all good friends and we've been playing together for so long," commented junior forward Adam Gunn. The Cavs' teamwork undoubtedly played a huge role in their success.

After losing many key contributors from last season, the KA Girls Basketball Squad entered a rebuilding phase. As the season began, the coaches relied on a number of underclassmen to contribute greatly to the team. The season started off slowly for the players; however, the team's record did not reflect how much hard work and dedication that they and the coaches put forth. The players spent numerous hours in the gym shooting endless jump shots and the coaches sacrificed a lot of time to direct the team over the proper path. Even though the season did not go as well as the players had hoped, all members gained valuable experience that they shall look back on for years to come.

When asked about her experience on the basketball squad, senior Jessica Woods replied, "As a result of playing basketball, I had the opportunity to meet many new people and develop new friendships." Jessica's words reflected the thoughts of many others on the basketball team. All of the players cultivated many friendships. Due to their participation on the basketball team, the players came into contact with people that they will always cherish.

The 2002-2003 winter season proved a very challenging, yet rewarding, season for the Kiski Area Varsity Swimming and Diving Team. Having lost many of its senior swimmers in the past few years, a crucial group of freshmen and sophomores aided in this time of reconstruction. Mr. Ronald Ruggeri, Mr. Ryan Berberich's successor as head coach, along with Mr. James Scott and Mr. John Mazurek did an outstanding job in leading the team through its current tribulations. Captains Kara Shirley, Lena Tobin, John Scarfutti, and Charles Turberville also provided some much needed leadership.

Senior Charles Turberville commented on the swimming team, "Even though we didn't win a lot of meets, everybody tried really hard." Indeed, the season record represented anything but the effort exerted by the members of the swimming and diving team. As the team matures, surely even greater things will surface in the coming year.

On her dedication to diving, Haley offered, "It took a lot of devotion to a sport to come to practice every day for two and a half hours and jump off the board." In addition to swimming, Haley also played soccer and softball.

How did the change in coaching staff most affect your team?

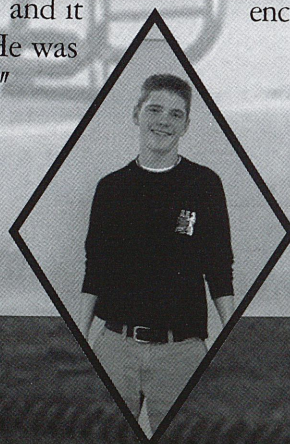

"Because we had a more strict schedule, the team gained more strength, both mentally and physically."

Lena Tobin

"I think that Coach Ruggeri laid down the law and it helped the team. He was still a cool guy."

Ryan Retter

"The coaching staff was very encouraging. Mr. Scott was the best."

Brad Walker

All-American Bad Boys

Sheer Power... Captain Steve Stedrak strives for the pin against a Burrell competitor. "This year's team was one of the best to come through Kiski Area. With 110% effort and our senior leadership, there was no limit that we couldn't achieve," stated Steve. The Kiski Wrestling team proved once again that they represented one of the district's consistently successful sports teams.

Why does the Kiski Wrestling Team continually experience success year after year?

"Kiski's wrestling program succeeded because we all pushed one another to get better. Not all teams did this."

Michael Wood

"We achieved our wrestling success by hard work in the practice room and great coaching on the mat."

Michael Corcetti

"The success of the team was due to the constant hard work of the coaching staff and to the students who trained to be their best."

After a disappointing loss in the WPIAL playoffs last season, Kiski Area's wrestling team started their season pursuing another section title and the WPIAL Team Championship. Kiski Area's perennially strong team returned many starters from last season's roster including Kurt Lorenz, Steve Stedrak, Scott McKillop, and many more. All of these individuals acquired great experience from last year helping them to prepare for another run into the playoffs.

Intense training played a crucial role in how well the team did in past years. Wrestlers not only wrestled others in practice, but they lifted weights and underwent some distance training.

Every wrestler contributed to the success of the team. From 103 pounds to heavyweight, each wrestler felt a sense of pride and accomplishment in helping to carry on the winning tradition.

The desire for victory carried the 2002 boys and girls track teams to both individual and team success. Through grueling workouts and unyielding determination, the runners, jumpers, hurdlers, and throwers all accomplished many feats.

Coached by Mr. Bill Karaszia, the boys' team ended the regular season with a 6-1 record and placed second in Section I. This record propelled the boys to the WPIAL Team Finals. Out of a total of 52 teams, the boys placed third, their best finish in recent years.

"The playoffs were the best part of the season," commented sophomore Erik Suchevecich. "Everyone picked it up a notch and gave it their all."

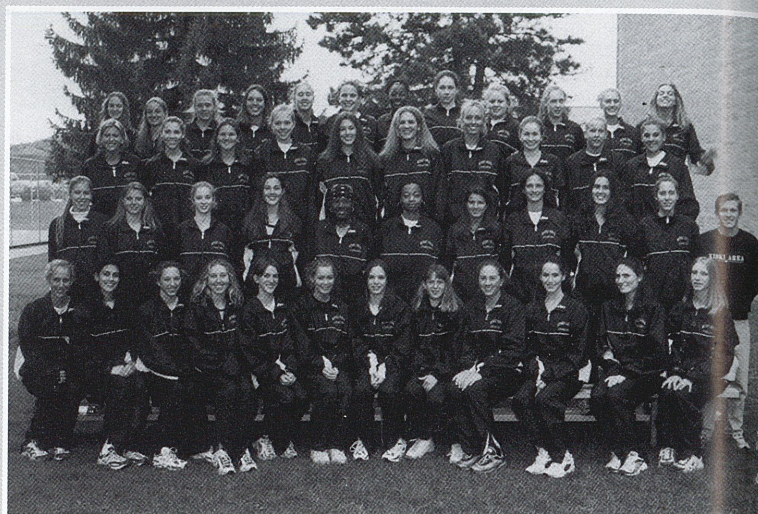

The team also had a number of standout athletes. Joey Tutchstone, Greg Hutcherson, Mike Wagner, and Mike Rairigh all qualified for the PIAA state meet.

Head coach, Mr. Tom Berzonsky, led the girls team to a very successful season. Although the team did not make the playoffs, numerous athletes achieved personal goals. The girls team had many talented underclassmen, each who should contribute greatly to the 2003 season.

Coach's Corner

The 2002 baseball team used hard work and a dedicated attitude to help them in their quest for a winning season. Throughout the winter months, they trained hard by weight lifting, conditioning, and working on improving their baseball skills. By the time the spring season rolled around, the Cavs looked forward to another successful season.

Led by coach Terry Fulton, the JV team had a standout season, finishing with a record of 9 - 3. The team looked to add several key players to the varsity squad this year.

The varsity team, coached by Jack Jewart and Zach Jankowski, pounded their way to a 10 - 2 regular season victory. With this record, the Cavs qualified for the playoffs, where they fell one game short of advancing to the-state playoffs. The varsity team achieved success through outstanding senior leadership and an abundance of underclassman talent.

Although they lost seven seniors last year, the returning players had an optimistic outlook on the upcoming season. "Hopefully we will be able to build on the success of last year's team," said junior Derek Scalzott.

Clean uniforms may have illuminated many of their opponents, but the 2001-2002 KA Softball team shone throughout the seasons despite the often dirty condition of their uniforms. Senior and pitcher Kelsey Knapp mentioned that "...the 8-2 victory against Highlands stood as the best game of the season. We all came together and beat one of the top teams in the section." Kelsey also stated that it became important for her to do her best at practice and at the games. "My sister got sick at the beginning of the season and I dedicated my season to her. For this reason, I played at my highest ability throughout the year," Kelsey commented.

The team had many memorable experiences along the way. The 'in-depth' conversations on the bus rides became highly enjoyable experiences. Whether the reasons stemmed from personal inspiration or team talks, the softball team had one of the best years in Kiski Area softball history.

Captain's Corner

Gettin' Dirty and Gettin' It Done

Quick Feet... Rhiannon Mondale does her best to keep the runner at first. "Softball gave us the opportunity for competition and also to have fun along the way," stated Rhiannon on her playing experience at the Big K. The Lady Cavs have continually become a tough team to beat in recent years.

How do you keep each other motivated during a tough game?

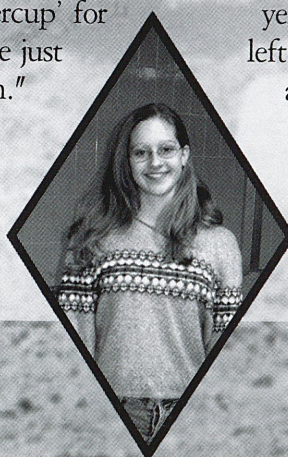

"We made sure to have fun and keep each other's spirits up. Even a horrible cartwheel made things more humorous."

Lauren Daley

"In softball we always sang 'Build Me Up Buttercup' for motivation, and we just had plain old fun."

Samantha Gamble

"To keep motivated, we would yell until we had no voice left, and we would huddle after every inning."

Jackie Mulvany

We Bust Ours to Heal Yours

Wrap It Up... Katie Hileman comes to the rescue of yet another soccer injury. She commented, "Being a trainer was sometimes stressful and time-consuming. However, the players made it all worthwhile." Katie chose soccer as her favorite sport to serve.

Discuss some of your duties that nobody realizes you complete.

"We had to take a class during the summer to prepare for training."

Stephanie Yarup

"We helped Donna and Lisa with therapy for injured athletes. We taught and assisted athletes with stretches."

Elizabeth Wright

"I had to clean out the ice machine. I always hated that."

Kristen Daniel

Trainers

Behind Every Great Player Lies the Individual That Trained Him/Her... The 2002-2003 Trainers

"The student trainers were a huge part of the sports medicine program here at the Big K. They did an enormous amount of work with very little recognition and no pay."

Donna Rife

Captain's Corner

We saw them zipping across school grounds in a golf cart and lounging beside water bottles- the trainers. But they did more than just drive the cart and relax beside the playing fields. Under the instruction and supervision of Head Trainers Donna Rife and Lisa Anderson, the trainers learned to bandage cuts and treated sprains and sore or pulled muscles. They received certification in CPR and first aid. The procedures that the trainers performed help them learn valuable life skills.

"I would like to become a physical therapist, and this gives me a head start on working with and identifying injuries," said junior Ashley Haag.

It may appear that the trainers simply filled water bottles and bagged ice behind the high school weight room, but for those such as Ashley, training helped them acquire skills that they will use in becoming nurses, therapists, or doctors. Who knows? They treated minor injuries for high school athletes, but someday they may perform surgery in the E.R. or coach a professional football player in rehab. It all began with the golf carts, water bottles, ice, and basic medical knowledge as trainers.

Aiming High... Captain Cara Badac prepares to snatch the rifle from its rapid descent. When asked about the single most valuable lesson she learned from guard, she stated, "I have learned that hard work and dedication always pay off in the end." Cara participated in color guard for three years.

Grand Champions...

Drum Major Kurt Wolfgang stands proud after their victory at Bands of America. Kurt commented, "The teamwork between staff and students was definitely what drove us to success." Kurt also excelled in academics, along with a long list of other extracurricular activities.

Winner's Circle... The marching band performs their victory show at the Youngstown State Regional. "It was the most rewarding experience of my life, and I couldn't believe it ended so quickly," said Angela Watson on the experience. As well as playing flute in the band, Angela played base guitar and some piano.

High Flying Spirits... Kiski Area Marching Band completes another of their many victory performances of the year. Ed Falk commented, "During an important show I felt confident that I knew everything needed to put on a great performance." Ed led the percussion section as section leader.

Sweet Sounds... Laura Miller and Rachelle Lindey perform in a Bands of America competition. Rachelle offered, "Marching band was a good experience. You learned new things about yourself." The marching band practiced for months to prepare for competition.

Thump. Thump. Thump. Imagine your heart racing, your body exhaling faster than ever and a combination of sweat and tears streaming down your cheeks. Fear, excitement, anticipation, and hours of perfection brought crowds of people and numerous judges to hail this year's show as one of the best programs in Kiski Area Marching Band history. The performance-winning title holders zoomed past dozens of bands on their successful drive down "Route 66."

Throughout the season, the rookies experienced a world of new things while the seniors sweat out their last year. Junior Alicia Fitzgerald claimed, "Many people believed that the most difficult part of the season was band camp. This did play a major role in learning the show, but afterwards came the perfecting part." The show, composed of "Scootin' on Hard Rock", "City of Angels", and "Route 66," illustrated a journey from Chicago to Los Angeles and the occurrences en route. Highlights of the season included the second place victory at the Bands of America regional performance in Massillon, Ohio, and the first place victory at Youngstown State University in Ohio.

The band staff included a new name, Mr. Shawn Pityk, a Kiski Area and Youngstown State University graduate. Along with his dedication, as well as Mr. Wozniak's dedication, the season amazed all. Sarah Moore stated, "Just when you think that you could not take any more, they pushed you even farther; that was a memory and a life lesson that we will keep with us for the rest of our lives."

Show Choirs

spectrum of sound

The Kiski Area Show Choirs continued their tradition of musical excellence through their excellent performances this year. Both choirs, Kaleidoscope and Take-Two, included the best vocalists in tenth, eleventh, and twelfth grades. Performing in these choirs required superb dancing skills as well as vocal skills.

Morning practices added to the members' already vigorous schedules. Katie Mottura commented, "The show choirs definitely required more dedication this year." The choirs' repertoire included eight different selections ranging from "Eleanor Rigby" to pieces from Shrek. On the road, the choirs performed at elementary schools and nursing homes, and finally in Boston in the spring.

Certainly, without the expertise of Mrs. Rupert, as well as the dedication and talents of the vocalists, the choirs would not have reached the level of success that they achieved.

- Mike Nigra

Strike A Pose... Ian Toy and Laurel Baker review the moves before a big performance. When asked how she prepared for a show, Laurel responded, "I liked to talk to friends and just joke around." Ms. Baker's future plans involved massage therapy.

Hats Off... Emily Logan, Amanda Waddell, and Alissa Cochenour practice before school to perfect the routine. Emily offered, "My favorite song to perform was Shoo-Shoo Baby because it was fast-paced, flirty, and fun." Many people thought that Take-Two outshined Kaleidoscope this year.

Two Step... Jessica Jewart and Alayna Angiulli concentrate to practice all the right moves. "Show choir has given me the opportunity to meet new people and try something new," replied Jessica. Ms. Jewart liked listening to all types of music.

Go Cowgirl Go... Courtney Petrina gives all the right moves in a show choir rehearsal. When asked where she got her training, Courtney replied, "I presently dance at Sandra Lynn's in Greensburg." Ms. Petrina has taken tap, jazz, ballet, and pointe.

Practice Makes Perfect... Jon Kummick, Andy Joseph, and Brian Majeran all show their stuff in preparation for an upcoming concert. "I liked to sing and dance," offered John on why he joined show choir. John also sang in Jazz Rock and Chorale.

Campus Wins Honors

Creation of the 2003 Campus commenced at 7-Springs on July 29, 2002. In a setting of 19 schools from 3 states, the Kiski Yearbook Staff set out to produce the best mock-yearbook among all who attended. After 4 days of determination and extreme focus, the first edition of the book you now hold won the Sweepstakes Award, the equivalent to the Oscar for Best Picture of the Year.

Ten months later, and forever more, the 2003 Campus stands as the final product of Kiski's efforts at 7-Springs. This book will remain special to me for many reasons—not because of its unprecedented digital effects, but because of the staff that employed them. I honestly have never had a more talented and well-balanced staff. Consequently our choice for Editor of the Year presented quite a challenge for Becca and me. We simply could not narrow the decision down to one individual. Hence, we chose both Renee Alsberry and Mike Nigra as Editors of the Year.

We chose Renee for her incredible sense of deadline, her strong leadership qualities, and her commitment to continually add more and more Kiski students to the book. We chose Mike for his technological edge, his many selfless hours spent after school in the SAR, and his impeccable story editing skills. Due to Renee's efforts, as well as the Reporting Staff, a quote appears in every picture caption. Thanks to Michael, the reader will not find a single form of "be" in the book, except in direct quotes—a reflection of superior writing. Of course, we simply could not have completed the book without the other editors on staff. Collectively, I honestly find it near impossible to produce a better book than this. Congratulations for a fine product and an even finer staff.

- Mr. Fantaski

"Yearbook taught me responsibility and it was so much fun!"

Courtney Petrina

"I learned that the SAR was never clean, there was never food on Mondays, and countless hours of work really payed off!"

Rebecca Ehalt

"Acting as a yearbook editor taught me how to cooperate productively with many different people."

Erin offered, "We put in a lot of hours to complete the book. It all paid off when we took first place." 7-Springs allowed the Campus staff to learn the Dos and Don'ts of yearbook creation.

Lessons Learned?

The Spanish Club consisted of students in Spanish IV and AP Spanish. Under the leadership of Mrs. Love, President Johanna Armstrong, Vice-President Erin Bargerstock, and Treasurer Matt Seren, the Spanish Club accomplished numerous tasks.

In addition to the traditional sale of chocolate-covered pretzels, the club went on two field trips, each to places where students witnessed authentic salsa dancing. The group also performed some salsa dance steps and taught the parents the means to execute them during Open House. This made it more enjoyable for the parents and for all in attendance. Also, the club planned and sponsored a Valentine's Day Dance with a Spanish-twist to it. As usual, Mrs. Love planned a trip to Mexico, which she offered to all members of Spanish Club. No matter what these enthusiastic Spanish students accomplished, the students always made a "fiesta" out of it.

Friday afternoon approached and almost everyone looked forward to the activity period as a time to relax and unwind. In contrast, the Wrestling club used the time for rigorous training. Wrestling Club drilled and ran for forty minutes. This incredible work ethic paid off for the team who won their section for the tenth consecutive season and their fourth consecutive county championship. Due to the hard work and dedication shown by the Wrestling Club, the Wrestling Team kept up its winning traditions.

The 2002-2003 junior varsity and freshmen hockey teams sported two of the best seasons in their histories. Skating at Center Ice Arena in Delmont, the hockey teams drew a sizable crowd for their action-packed contests. To rank in the upper echelon of teams stood as an outstanding accomplishment for the junior varsity hockey team. The freshmen team also displayed great skills throughout their season. These young teams showed great promise and secured their place in the ranks among the greatest of Kiski hockey clubs.

Both teams demonstrated great achievements in their respective sports. The exceptional performances of the wrestling and hockey teams carried on the great tradition of quality sports at the high school.

Quiz Team Continues Success

Name the capital of Somalia. Who served as the thirty-fourth president of the United States? The members of the academic quiz team correctly answered both of these questions at their various practices throughout the season.

The quiz teams began practicing in September and continued to practice until late March. Competing in the Mt. Pleasant Area Quiz and the StrongLand Chamber of Commerce leagues, the teams excelled in digging what some consider "worthless" knowledge out of their brains and turning it into gold. The junior varsity team, which consisted of ninth and tenth graders, finished in first place for the regular season and third place in the final tournament at Mt.

Pleasant. The team took the first Mt. Pleasant season championship, varsity or junior varsity, in school history. The varsity team, which consisted of eleventh and twelfth graders, finished the season in third place and had a strong showing in the final tournament. Both teams looked to take another championship in the StrongLand competition, in which Kiski dominated for the last half decade.

- The amazing breadth of knowledge of the team brought them great success this year and into the future. These aspiring Jeopardy! contestants hoped that they could also use their knowledge to gain fame and fortune on the game show.

Battle of the Bands

On a cold night in the middle of last December, the sounds of Kiski Area's most talented musicians turned Vandergrift's Son's of Italy into a dynamic amphitheater. The 2002 Battle of the Bands, sponsored by the Kiski Area Student Council, showcased eight of Kiski's most gifted bands, including a special appearance by teachers Mr. Dosch and Mr. DeSantis. After an intense 3 hour competition, "Silver Lining" claimed first place, followed closely by "Spent."

The Battle of the Bands drew a crowd of nearly 250 people and raised more than $700 for the 2002 telethon. Although it stood as a great success, the battle of the Bands almost never took place. "There were many last minute glitches. Thankfully, we were able to work them out and put on a great show," said Student Council Vice President Phil Hartle.

The 2002-03 student council, headed by President Zach Clark, aided the school and community in a variety of ways. From sponsoring a blood drive, which raised over 100 pints of blood for a local community member, to holding a highly successful homecoming dance, the student council strived hard to achieve their goal of making the school district a better place.

The Kiski Area Ski Club hit the slopes again this year aided by an exceptionally snowy season and well below-average temperatures. Sponsors Mr. Duppsstadt and Mr. Dosch traveled with the Ski Club to Seven Springs Mountain Resort around a half-dozen times, where members chose to either ski or snowboard.

While there, skiers and snowboarders decided what type of course they wished to try. "People skied with their friends to relax and unwind after a tiring and frustrating day at school," senior

Seth Hummel stated, "Some ski slowly to relax, others do jumps and tricks, while yet others just want to go fast." Some of the easier slopes included Boomerang Trail and the Lost Bay Trail, while the more difficult ones included Avalanche Slope and the North Face Slope. Jump Park provided the most difficult run for those wishing a challenge.

Whether speed, relaxation, or complex maneuvers appealed the most, the Ski Club provided an excellent escape from students' otherwise ordinary days this year.

"Winterguard has taught me to do my best and complete things 100%. It has built character, showed me leadership, teamwork and responsibility."

Alissa Cochenour
Winterguard

Cold temperatures, teamwork, and lots of practice combined to make last year's Winterguard a resounding success. Supervised by Mr. Pityk and several other private instructors, the team won awards at several competitions, including the Three Rivers Winterguard Championship. They also attended Regionals for the first time and placed fourteenth out of approximately fifty schools.

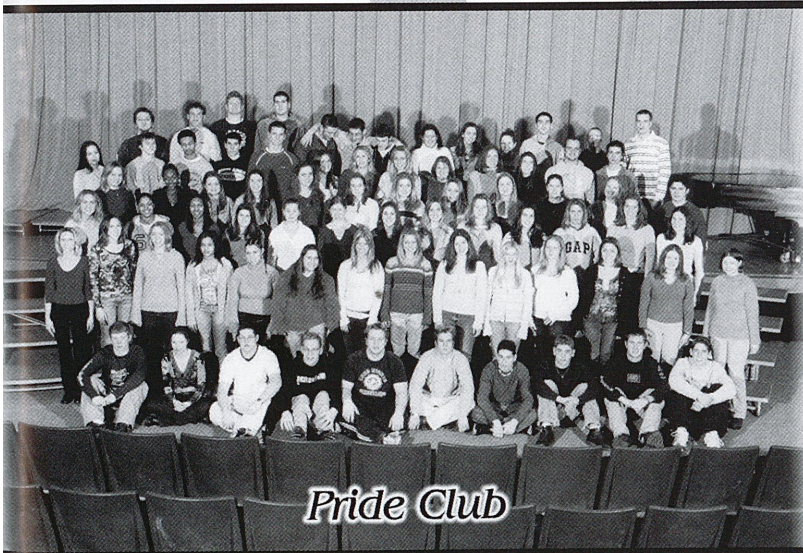

The members attributed their achievements to their talented instructors and their long hours of dedicated practice. The girls worked Mondays and Wednesdays after school for three hours and then on Saturdays for approximately five hours before attending competitions on Saturday nights. The squad also hired a new prestigious drill coordinator from Arizona to help with floor placement and general choreography in their competition routine. Another of their choreographers worked with the Pittsburgh Ballet and a performing arts school.

But for the members of the team, life did not consist solely of hours of dreary drills. "I liked the competition. I loved to watch other people and see their talents and what they could do," related Pamela Bieranoski, a junior. Indeed, the team had plenty of opportunities to do just that with the numerous tournaments they attended. Improvement and challenge also seemed to rank high on the list of every girl. "To get better - that was the main reason I participated in Winterguard," remarked junior Danielle Beighley. "You couldn't help it - every year made you better." If Winterguard called for constant improvement, then it seemed that there existed no place for the team to go but the top.

Safety First

Many students at Kiski enrolled in the SADD (Students Against Destructive Decisions) club hoping to make a significant change in students' and teachers' lives. They thoroughly planned and successfully executed numerous activities. One in particular, the seat belt check, stood as one of the club's successes this year.

As students and faculty members drove into school, various members of SADD stopped the cars and checked to see whether or not the driver and the passengers had worn their seat belts. For every person that wore their seat belt, a SADD member gave them a candy cane and a slip of paper advising people to take precaution and to practice safe driving habits over the holiday break. At the end of the day, Mr. Zoldak announced the results to the school. Lena Tobin said, "I think the seat belt check worked out really well. I think everyone thought twice before driving somewhere over the holiday break."

- This activity left a lasting impact on all that participated. The event represented one of the many activities that enabled the SADD club to positively influence the school.

Down to Business

Future Business Leaders of America remained one of the few clubs at Kiski that prepared high school students for the real world after graduation. Members attended one seminar and one competition this year. At the fall seminar, FBLA members learned various business concepts and techniques that applied to today's business world. These workshops included many unique approaches to business such as attire and ethics. The second FBLA trip, the regional competition, stood as a chance for students to display what they learned in their business courses this year. Students competed in various competitions from public speaking to accounting and from word processing to parliamentary procedure. Members who placed first or second at this level had the opportunity to move to the state leadership conference at Seven Springs to compete for a state championship. Certainly, the 2002-03 members continued FBLA's winning tradition.

While the 2002-2003 Mock Trial team began at a slow pace this season due to the absence of their coach, they still continued the team's strong winning tradition. The Mock Trial team held a better overall record than any sports team at Kiski Area. Over the 16 years that the club existed, their combined record totaled to 30-0; the team never lost in the regular season. Despite this record, not many students knew how much work, dedication, and time the Mock Trial team put into preparing their case.

Mock Trial became no ordinary club; practices occurred in the evening for two hours or more. The team, coached by Mr. Norton and led by President Shauna Moser and Secretary Amy Milanak, won their two cases in the regular season.

This year's team prepared a civil case regarding the controversial subject of underage drinking. The team traveled to the Greensburg Courthouse to perform their case in front of a jury composed of lawyers. Mock Trial prepared its members with a background in legal matters, and also developed leadership and public speaking skills.

NOW. I'VE SEEN HER IN DEEP
THOUGHT, AND I'VE SEEN HER ACTING
SILLY. I'VE CAPTURED HER MOODS
AND OUR MEMORIES AND SEWN THEM INTO MY HEART. WHEN SHE CAME ALONG, I KNEW SHE WOULD CHANGE MY WORLD, BUT WHAT I DIDN'T KNOW THEN WAS THAT I WOULD ALSO GAIN A LIFELONG

just imagine

On the heels of its fortieth anniversary, Kiski Area High School has certainly seen great triumphs as well as challenging trials. The triumphs yielded celebration, and from the trials blossomed character and wisdom. Standing upon the threshold of a brand new horizon, we now prepare for future tests and anticipate future victories. Certainly, the commencement of renovation will facilitate the arrival of both.

As in past years, students learned, socialized, competed, played, studied, smiled, cried, and simply lived. However, we all acted in the presence of future promise. The spring marked a historical moment in more ways than one. From baking to Buddies, the students did not merely endure another school year; they created the next link of memories in the chain of Kiski's legacy. Everything that each person accomplished, no matter what grade, built up the inward foundation of Kiski High, as surely as brick and cement began to transform its superficial appearance.

Just Imagine...
